Êdōâma dâ Enêoḳe

Author: Noah F.

Overview
Phonology & Orthography
    Vowel Sounds
    Consonant sounds
Grammar
    Sentence structure
        General Word Order
        Adjectives & Adverbs
    Abbreviations
    Derivation
        Verbing
        Adjectifying
Pluralization
Pronouns
Helping verbs
Possessives
Formality
Temporal tenses
Names

Overview

Êdōâma dâ Enêoḳe (translating to “language of raccoons”) is a conlang created by Noah Fountain with the purpose of communication. It is currently an unstable conlang (meaning it is still being changed and created actively).
The language uses latin characters with and without accents. Accents serve as markers for sound changes among both vowels and consonants.

Phonology & Orthography

Vowel Sounds

Orthography	IPA	Approx.
A-Â-Ā	/æ/-/eɪ/-/aʊ/	bad-ate-about
E-Ê	/ɛ/-/iː/	bed-see
I-Î	/ɪ/-/aɪ/	big-eye
O-Ô-Ō	/ɔ/-/oʊ/-/uː/	not-code-root
U	/ʌ/	up

Consonant sounds

Orthography	IPA	Approx.
B	/b/	bed
D	/d/	dad
F	/f/	far
G-Ǧ	/g/-/dʒ/	go-gem
H	/h/	hidden
J	/j/	yes
K-Ḳ-Ǩ	/k/-/s/-/sk/	kill-sea-skull
L	/l/	leap
M	/m/	moon
N-Ṇ	/n/-/ŋ/	Noon-Sing
P	/p/	polar
R	/ɹ/	run
T	/t/	tap
Þ	/θ/	thin
V	/v/	violin
W	/w/	win
X	/ks/	tax
Z-Ż-Ž	/z/-/ʃ/-/ʒ/	zip-ship-measure

Grammar

Sentence structure

General Word Order

Êdōâma dâ Enêoḳe follows SVO (Subject-Verb-Object) structure exclusively. This matches English sentence structure

Adjectives & Adverbs

In Êdōâma dâ Enêoḳe, Adjectives come after the word they modify. This includes all modifiers.

Abbreviations

Abbreviations use the first letter of each word from the extended form subsequently. When used in a sentence, they are surrounded by square brackets- “[]” -with a space in between the abbreviation and brackets. [êde] represents “Êdōâma dâ Enêoḳe”.

Derivation

Verbing

To turn a word into a verb, adapt the word to have the suffix “-âḳ” at the end. Example: Dôrmîḳ becomes dôrmîḳâḳ (noun: rest, to verb: to rest, to sleep)

Adjectifying

To turn a word into an adjective, adapt the word to have the suffix “-ân” at the end. Example: dôrmîḳ becomes dôrmîḳân (noun: sleep, rest; to verb: to sleep or rest)

Pluralization

To create a plural noun, modify it with the suffix “-kô” — coming from the word “kôgu” meaning “an amount more than one” or “multiple”; this method does not apply to pronouns
To specify a certain amount, modify it with a number word.

Pronouns

to use a pronoun as an indefinite, such as to use them as ¨that person¨ add the modifier ¨t´¨ as in t'âlêr (¨someone¨) or t'kâlêr (¨something¨). Otherwise they all function as context specific and demonstrative pronouns. (this also applies to possessive pronouns.)

Person	Singular	Plural
First	jo	joķ
Second	jot	joteķ
Third (masc.)	Ǧelêr	—
Third (fem.)	Žâlêr	—
Third (neutral)	âlêr	âlêķ
Third (inanimate)	kâlêr	kâlêķ
Inquisitive	Hōn	—

Helping verbs

Person	Verb
First	ķô
Second	êroķ
Third	êķ

Possessives

Person	Possessive
First	jon
Second	joten
Third (masc.)	Ǧelên
Third (fem.)	Žâlon
Third (neutral)	âlên
Third (inanimate)	kâlên
Inquisitive	Hōnên

Formality

when writing formally, you must use the full ¨[noun] dâ [noun]” for using nouns to modify nouns.
When writing informally, you may use this format: ¨[noun] d´[noun]¨

Examples
formal	kōpâ dâ akvâ
informal	kōpâ d´akvâ

(This only applies to written form, in speech you must use the full words)

Verb tenses

to specify the relative time a verb was done, add one of these modifiers to the beginning of the verb in [modifier]'[verb] format.

Tenses Examples
future	p'impaǵâḳ
present	impaǵâḳ
past	k´impaǵâḳ

Names

When creating an enêoḳe name, there are two paths to take.
You can choose a loan name or a semantic name.
A loan name is when you adapt your own name to fit the phonology of êde. for example: Noah → Nôu.
A semantic name is choosing to be referred to by êde words as your name. for example, one may choose to be refferred to as ¨enêoḳe¨ for their name.

Questions

“Who is that?” — “âlên êḳ hōn?” — “They are who?”
“What is that?” — Kâlêr êḳ hōn?” — “That is what?”
“What time is it?” — “Kronu êḳ hōn?”/”Kronu?” — “‘Time is what?”
“What time is night?” — “Kronu dâ nōżâ êḳ hōn?” — “Time of night is what?”
“Where?” — “Poḳê êḳ hōn?”/”poḳê?” — “position is what?”/”position?”
“Why?” — “razōn êḳ hōn?”/”razōn?” — “reason is what?”/”why?”
“How” — “vêtō êḳ hōn?”/“vêtō?” — “method is what?”/”method?”
“Which” — “Hōn dâ êtê?” — ‘What of this?”
“How many?” — “êtjōk êḳ hōn” — “amount is what?”
“Who’s?” — “hōnên?” — “who’s?”

Last updated: March 10, 2026; 21:12